

Total War

C.D Howe was given extraordinary authority to do whatever to gear up the economy to meet wartime demands.

The Federal government became more involved in planning and controlling the economy.

If the private sector couldn't produce what Howe wanted, he created crown corporations to do the job.

Farmers were told to produce more wheat, beef, and dairy products.